Old City Hall Sold For $225,000

Tuesday night's meeting of the Sierra Madre City Council was far different than a similar meeting nearly a year ago. Tuesday night, the council voted to sell the old city hall. Last December and January, numerous residents and city organizations voiced their objections and concerns to any sale of the now-vacant city facility.

Tuesday night, no resident appeared to voice either objection or concern for the sale. The only one to appear publicly before the council was one of the purchasers, Harold R. Anderson.

The council voted to accept the bid of Anderson and Fritz Aherne to buy the former city hall for $225,000.

An escrow to consummate the sale will probably be opened shortly. Sale terms require an initial deposit by the purchasers of $20,000 which will be forfeited if they default in completing the purchase.

Another item that has caused much citizen concern in the past --- the status of negotiations of the cable TV franchise --- created no comment Tuesday night.

City Attorney Charles Martin, the city's representative in its negotiations with Teleprompter, met with the council at its study session preceding the regular monthly meeting. However, because he had a previous meeting during the time the council regularly meets, his comments at the study session were replayed to the audience by City Clerk L. Marie Warfel when the matter came up for hearing on the council agenda.

In those comments, Martin said only one item remained to be settled with Teleprompter and that he anticipated he will have an agreement ready for council approval at its next regular meeting, Dec. 22.

The City Attorney said the only item remaining for resolution was the definition of "gross receipts."

He said the negotiations with Teleprompter had been satisfactory to both himself and the city administrator, James McRea.

In commenting on the contract to be presented to the council for its approval on Dec. 22, Martin said, "I think you will be pleased with the results."

He concluded by saying the only alternative (to signing the new contract) is to say "No, to a very vexing problem we have had for a long time."

In another matter, the council heard Fire Chief Leonard Hall express concern about the Christmas decorations placed about town by the city's Chamber of Commerce. Another story delves more deeply into this problem.

Safety of the Sierra Madre residents and transportation of the city's senior citizens also received the attention of the city council members.

It adopted some holiday tips provided by the city's police chief, Irwin (Bill) Betts and voted to create a Crime Prevention Board. Members of the board will be appointed at the council's first meeting next year.

It also accepted the report of the chairman of the city's senior citizen committee, Richard Hartley.

Hartley's report dealt with transportation of the city's senior resident, an item that previously appeared resolved with acceptance of a program offered by the Foothill Area Community Services, Inc. However, that organization, commonly known as FACS, has notified the city it will no longer furnish a driver for the van used for senior citizen transportation after this month.

To resolve the transportation problem, Hartley suggested some alternatives, one of which involved the use of city-owned vehicles and another which utilizes vehicles owned by companies, such as Parsons.

While the council's next regularly scheduled meeting is December 22, it will hold a special meeting next Monday evening, Dec. 4, at 6 p.m. to consider the city's liability insurance program.

Ripple Sells Mortuary Grounds To S M Congregational Church

An era will be over Dec. 15 for Sierra Madre when Sterling Ripple hands over the keys of his mortuary and surrounding grounds to Sierra Madre Congregational Church and goes into semi-retirement after having been the city's only mortician for 35 years.

Ripple's records will be absorbed by Douglass and Zook Mortuary located in Monrovia and the local mortician will work on a part-time basis with the Zooks, continuing with his trust clients.

Ripple joined Harry A. Lange, owner of Grant Chapel in 1946 following his release from the Army as a Captain in the Quartermaster Corps. Ripple was born in Iowa but grew up in Bellflower, Calif., attending Fullerton Junior College and the USC College of Mortuary Science. He graduated from the National Selective Mortician's School in Chicago where he majored in mortuary management.

In England while in the service he was attached to the staff of Brookwood American Military Cemetery and Cambridge American Military Cemetery before going to France. While in England he conducted funeral services for Lange's brother, Lt. Edward M. Lange, a bombadier with the Eighth Air Force. From there the friendship between Harry Lange and Ripple developed into a business arrangement.

According to Ken Cromeenes, business manager at Sierra Madre Congregational Church, purchasers of the property, the mortuary itself will be used for adult and youth Sunday school classes. Because the house is already rented, the church plans not to use it since, according to Cromeenes, "The church has no immediate need for that structure."

Minor renovating such as painting will begin immediately since the building is in good shape, Cromeenes says. They will also be installing bulletin boards and black boards and adding additional chairs. "It is ideal for our needs," Cromeenes said. They also plan to purchase some of the equipment that is useful to the church.

Ripple might need access to the facility occasionally and provisions will be made for that use, Cromeenes added.

Within the past 14 years the church growth has augmented to the point where three Sunday services are imperative, the business manager explained. There are about 800 members and many of those are young people, he said.

Serious negotiations began in March of this year but the church had been eyeing the property for years, according to Cromeenes. Ripple brought up the idea to Rev. Anderson, present minister, years ago, and the idea grew from there, Cromeenes

Two-Alarm Fire Results In House Destruction

by George Maurer

Many local citizens were awakened early Sunday morning by the sound of an unusual number of sirens as a second alarm was struck for a blaze in the lower canyon area of Sierra Madre.

Just before 5 a.m. the Police - Fire dispatcher received a call that a resident of 850 Woodland had a "couch fire" and the fire department was dispatched. The first unit to arrive at the scene immediately reported the structure was fully involved and as the fire engines entered the canyon flames were already 30 to 50 feet in the air.

Fire Chief Leonard Hall ordered a second alarm bringing mutual aid cities, Monrovia, Arcadia and El Monte into the city. Because of its proximity to the brush, units were dispatched to areas adjacent to the dam to control the brush fire which was now underway.

Embers from the fiercely burning wood structure set fire to the brush below the home adjacent to the burning building and exposure lines were employed to control these as well.

In the meantime, neighbors reported to fire officials that the resident was believed to be at home and a concentrated effort was then made to find if the owner was among the crowd watching the blaze. There was grave concern for their nearby homes.

The owner was finally located and turned over to the medical unit for evaluation medically since it was apparent that he indeed had been subjected to smoke inhalation. He was taken to Arcadia Methodist for treatment.

The local volunteers confined the blaze to the one structure and a brush area a few hundred feet distant, and had the fire under control within about 30 minutes. However, it was necessary to keep an engine and manpower at the scene for several hours to prevent rekindling and to pull down the remaining "skeleton" walls that withstood the blaze itself.

Chief Hall indicated that the recent rains had helped the condition of the brush in the area, and the lack of wind was an enormous aid in confining the fire to such a small area. This area, because of its extremely limited access for firefighting equipment, has always been a prime concern area for the fire department.

All available reserve Sierra Madre Police were called in for duty to help with traffic control and evacuation of the canyon if it became necessary, and Fire Chief Hall notified the area coordinator to place nearby fire departments on "Strike Team" standby in case the fire got out of hand. Strike teams normally consist of four fire engines and a truck company.

One Tree Stolen, 21 Others Pose Possible Fire Hazard

One of the 22 trees lining Sierra Madre business district was stolen Saturday night leaving a pot of stones.

The tree in front of Paper Palace disappeared from its red container and Hugh Campbell immediately offered his tree to Herb Stroh, owner of the stationery shop. Gordon Baker Lloyd offered decorations for the tree.

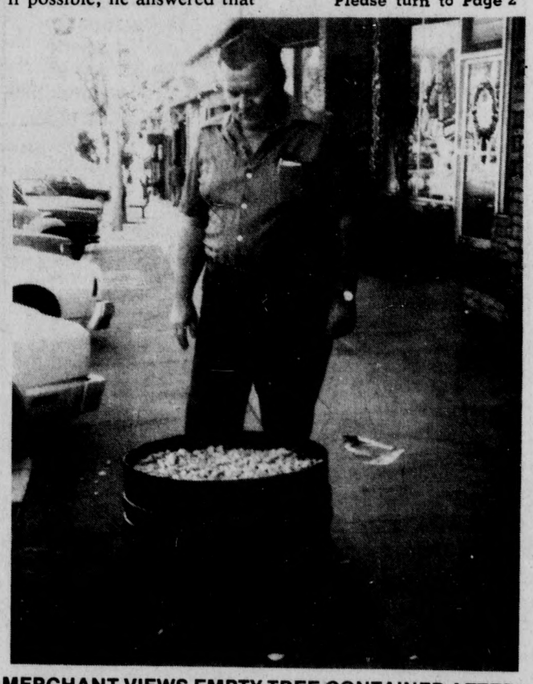

And as if that problem weren't enough for Chamber of Commerce members whose enthusiasm spawned the Christmas decorations and got them placed quickly so that the community would have longer enjoyment, there is also a question of how much of a fire hazard the live cut trees are to the downtown community.

Fire Chief Leonard Hall said, "If merchants help us, there shouldn't be any big problem. I suggest each merchant water his tree each day with at least a half gallon of water. At least fill the pot to the top. That daily watering should solve 90% of the problems. However, if we have extremely hot days we'll have problems.

"I also suggest that trees be moved out to the edge of the sidewalk, away from overhangs. If any individual tree turns brown, we also suggest it be removed by the fire department immediately."

When asked if trees should be brought inside at night, if possible, he answered that the size of the pot and tree plus the weight might make that nearly impossible. He added that trees in Kersting Court should be brought in-

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

● Jay Cullen called just as we were going to press to tell us the story of the stolen mugs. Why wouldn't they be mugs since he owns Mugs 'n Stuff here in town? He used cups that were seconds, decorated them with the city seal and a Christmas bell and hung them on his outside Christmas tree. Out of the 15 he placed on the tree Monday night there were only eight left by Tuesday evening. But those of you who are guilty of filching the mugs had best beware: on the back of each mug are the letters "Stolen for Mugs 'n Stuff, 1981."

● Louise Corp had an unnerving and frightening experience Tuesday afternoon when she was hit by a car in the crosswalk near Lloyds Bank and became a casualty. Of all the bones to break --- her right wrist. That means no tennis for the tennis fiend for six weeks at least.

● While snowflakes fall on many parts of the United States, our weather remains much like that we usually enjoy around Rose Tournament time.

● Speaking of the Rose Tournament, we ran into Frosty Foster at a Christmas party the other night. We remember the Fosters as special friends who have really brought the Tournament of Roses activities and ensuing Parade to members of the media in such a delightful way.

At the same party we also saw many friends from San Marino --- Rotarian Bill Steele and his wife Barbara, Mayor Lynn Reitnouer and his Winnie, and innumerable others at the home of Claire and Charlene Johnson.

Sierra Madrean Jacob Maarse did the Christmas decorations for the home and they were truly remarkable.

● After months of knowing something was in the wind, Sterling Ripple has announced the sale of his mortuary and grounds to Sierra Madre Congregational Church. Escrow should close on the Ides of December, ending another era in Sierra Madre. There will be no mortuary within the city limits even though there are several in towns nearby.

We wish Sterling much luck in his semi-retirement even though he seems far too young to think about sitting around with his feet in the fire all day. But knowing Sterling that won't be the case. Maybe we can talk him into becoming another of our beloved street walkers, as they call themselves --- those who are retired or semi-retired but become vital volunteers for the community.

● Tom Burres says his bout with cancer has shown him the winner. He reports that after a seven-year fight, he raises his hands above his head in the victory shake. His doctors have declared him the winner. His friends share his grateful appreciation.

BILL OF RIGHTS

By Mark T. Nevill, Third Vice Regent
Constitution Week Committee

Congratulations have been extended to Congressman John Rousselot and Elaine Rudolph, Mayor of Sierra Madre recently for their efforts in making sure our country's Bill of Rights remains a living document, not just a dusty piece of history.

The goal of the Constitution Week Committee of San Marino Chapter, DAR, Mrs. Mark T. Nevill, chairman, is to sustain and renew the awareness of our American Heritage and to focus attention on the observance of the Bill of Rights Week, Dec. 13 through 19.

The first 10 amendents to the Constitution touch on issues of free speech, freedom of the press, the right to keep and bear arms, freedom of religion and freedom of assembly. Our forefathers had the good sense to add them to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights was ratified on Dec. 15, 1791, four years after the Constitution had come into being.

Today's American needs the protection of the Bill of Rights as surely as did his forefathers.

Bill of Rights Week will be observed with special observances in schools, lodges, service clubs and churches. All of us can participate by re-reading the Bill of Rights this week.

I won't say the team is bad but everytime they take the field Georgia Frontiere gets hit with a $10 fine for littering.

They've really had a bad season. Even their Gatorade has gone rancid.

I still enjoy watching the Rams but then I've always liked comedy.

side for the Candlelight Walk Dec. 20.

Fire Inspector Kramer showed considerably more concern and indicated he thought the problem was greater. "It's malicious people who set fires. I hope everyone gets behind the effort and avoids its becoming a bad Christmas. Trees must be evaluated on an individual basis by the fire department and should be removed if they become hazardously dry."

He concurred with the chief that trees should be placed as close to the curb as possible to alleviate the possibility of catching businesses on fire if a tree becomes involved.

Dear Friends:

On or about December 15, 1981, Ripple Mortuary will terminate operations as a mortuary. The property has been sold to the Sierra Madre Congregational Church. The property will be used for Church related activities which may ultimately include funeral services as it has been.

The records, past and present including pre-need arrangements as well as pre-paid arrangements, will be transferred to the Douglass and Zook Mortuary, 600 East Foothill Boulevard, Monrovia, California, where service arrangements will be honored in accordance with the family's wishes.

Personally, after forty-five years (35 years in Sierra Madre) in the mortuary field, I will be going into a partial retirement. However, at this point in time, it is my intent to make myself available to help my friends from Sierra Madre in their time of need through the Douglass and Zook Mortuary in Monrovia.

A word about my successors, the Zook family. I have been acquainted with the Zook family since they located in Monrovia 28 years ago. I have exchanged services with them all of these years. They have cared for my parents and others close to me and I have complete faith that they will treat my friends in the future in the same manner that I would want them treated.

In conclusion, please be advised that I will be available to discuss by phone or in person any questions relative to the transfer and closure of Ripple Mortuary. I appreciate and value highly the association and the confidences that the families have entrusted to me these past 35 years. It is with a heavy heart that I take down my license as mortician for the good people of Sierra Madre.

It is anticipated that the "Ripple Mortuary" phone line will be installed in the Douglass and Zook Mortuary to accommodate our friends in Sierra Madre.

Sincerely,

Sterling T. Ripple

TV Progamming Improves With ARTS

Congratulations on our city's informative, interesting and fun newspaper! I look forward to reading it every Thursday.

With considerable apprehension I read about the TV Cable's problem-ridden service. it's true that when we had a new TV delivered the installer remarked that the picture was by no means "Cable-clear" quality. So I do look forward to the promised results of improved reception.

in the meantime, I want to thank you for printing the introduction of the most exciting TV programming I've ever seen --- ARTS. It's fantastic and shows what TV can do so beautifully: symphonies, paintings, writing, drama, poetry — the wonderful, meaningful things of life. This is what we've been waiting for Teleprompter!

IT DOESN'T!

In fact, with our new Custom Auto Program, you can significantly affect what your own auto insurance premiums will be.

How? Easy. We base your cost on factors you can control . . . your driving record (not on your age or sex), the exposure you have to accidents (where you drive, how much you drive and whether you drive for pleasure or business) and by the type of car you drive. With Custom Auto you can control the cost of your insurance.

Specifically, we're looking for drivers who have had a good driving record for the past three years. Drivers who use their cars for pleasure and light commuting. And drivers who have had a favorable claim record for the last three years.

It will be necessary for the person making the request to help arrange for parking for the carolers at the stop point.

The annual spring production has been announced and auditions are in the process. The show is "West Side Story," a 1950 version of the classic "Romeo and Juliet." Production will be March 12, 13, 19 and 20. Early indications point to a very large cast. Leads will be announced Dec. 16. Tickets will be available in the student business office after Feb. 1, 1982.

CORDUROY

by Joe Delgatto

Corduroy is a fabric made of cotton, acetate or other synthetic fibers. It has a raised, cut pile that runs length-wise in the fabric. Corduroy can be two types: woven or knit. Woven corduroy will not stretch; whereas knit corduroy will stretch in either the length or width direction of the fabric.

I suggest that, with the popularity of corduroy winter fashions, you should be aware of the best way to clean these garments to ensure their appearance and long life. Tailored or lined jackets made of corduroy should never be washed. Although it is safe to wash most other corduroy garments, you should watch for possible color bleeding and shrinkage. The best way to care for all of your new corduroy clothes is to have them professionally dry-cleaned.

Fireman's Dance This Saturday

Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department's 60th annual charity dance is being held this Saturday at St. Rita's Hall, starting at 9 p.m.

Fire Chief Leonard Hall reminds local residents that the plans are complete and Friday evening the firemen will assemble at St. Rita's O'Malley Hall to begin preparation of the hall. The job will be completed by Saturday noon.

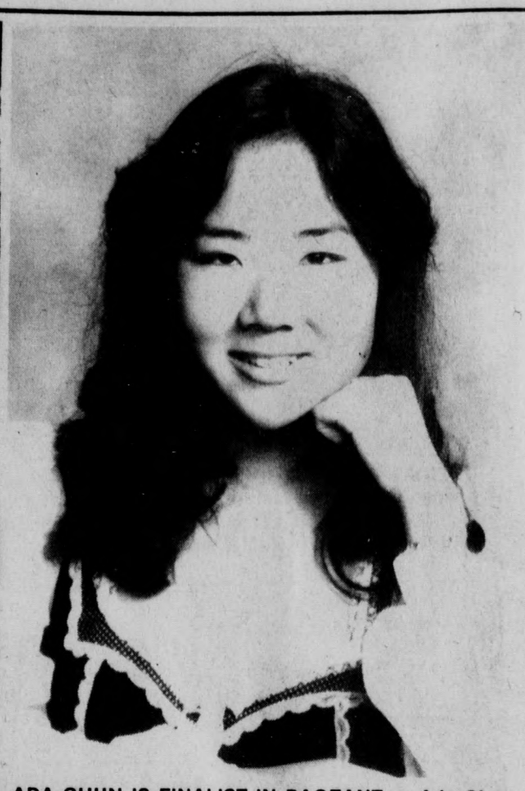

Tickets have been sent to every residence in the city and to the adjacent areas just outisde the city limits in hopes of selling a great number of tickets, even though the recipient may not be able to attend. The proceeds of the ticket sales are placed in a special fund that is used strictly for charity purposes. It provides funds for the annual Christmas Eve party to which all youngsters in town are invited to come and receive a filled stocking from Santa in the pergola of the City Hall complex. It also provides for the annual Easter Egg Hunt, sponsorship of at least one team in each of the local baseball leagues, plus food baskets and monetary help, if necessary, to those who find themselves in dire straights, especially during the holiday season or following a fire.

Collections, according to Treasurer Richard Mays, are lagging far behind the last two years and he is hoping that before the end of the year returns will pick up.

As you know, our family has two male whippet dogs which we keep as family pets. The home where we live and keep these dogs is surrounded by a six-foot high board fence which is well built and maintained in good condition. We do try to keep our dogs inside and certainly do not allow them to run at large. We make a real good-faith effort to keep our dogs at home. But, like most human efforts it sometimes falls short.

For example, on Nov. 18 one of the dogs managed to dig under the fence and escape. He was picked up by a member of the Pasadena Humane Society staff, an officer Bolseth. My wife recovered him and had to pay a fee of $45. She was also given a citation for violation of the leash law which may well involve an additional fine.

Today, while workmen were here doing some yardwork, both of the dogs escaped from the yard when they found that the workmen had left a gate open. Despite the obvious circumstances Officer Bolseth took considerable pains and effort to capture both dogs and take them to the pound again.

When I went to the pound to complain and to get my dogs back I was confronted by the most frustrating type of bureaucratic insolance and indifference.

The upshot can be summarized as follows. My wife and I have each missed two hours of work, have had to drive over 60 miles, have paid out $130 and have been subjected to considerable harrassment. We must still make at least one court appearance because of the two citations for violation of the leash law.

In my opinion, all of this is an outrage. The purpose of animal control should be to control stray animals, animals that are constantly allowed to roam or wild animals that enounter difficulties from contact with humans or domestic animals. Need and cost should be carefully weighed in this era of austerity.

I have reached the point of being very unwilling to pay hard earned dollars to taxing authorities to pay for unnecessary services which are delivered by inflexible and indifferent workers. That, I do not need.

VFW Plans No Christmas Party

Can you believe it??

After thirty years our local VFW is not having a children's Christmas party this year in our town as they state there 's no children in our town who would wish to come to it. I wonder why?

The veteran's Christmas party was intended for veterans' children, grandchildren, guests and all children of Sierra Madre. Do you actually believe we have no children who would not enjoy a Christmas party anc Santa in our own town before Dec. 24? Many of us have Christmas on the evening of the 24th. This year they'll miss our local Santa, thye've been looking forward to the usual VFW Christmas party --- "Sorry, this year there'll be none."

Christmas Spirit In Sierra Madre

If you have been slow in getting the Christmas Spirit this year, I hope you made it downtown last Friday night to visit the many stores whose owners stayed open late, and went all out to get one in the holiday mood.

The beautifully painted Christmas scenes on the windows, the colored lights and several decorated live Christmas trees.

Windows showed tempting merchandise.

Inside, the owners and employees were graciously offering delicious refreshments. There were many attractive gift suggestions, and gifts being wrapped free of charge. Where else does one find that courtesy?

The merchants of Sierra Madre are to be complimented and compensated by patronage of the towns people for their efforts.

I do believe it would be nice if there could be some Christmas music playing in the square.

Frank's Arcadia Market Held Up

Frank's Fresh Fish Market in Arcadia was held up by two armed males Friday at about 12:30 p.m., according to Frank Von Dongen, owner.

Store Manager Richard Smith waited on the two men who came in for lunch, then asked them if there were anything else they wanted.

They answered, producing a gun, "Yes, show us your cash register."

According to Von Dongen, the man wielding the gun kicked the manager in the ribs and the face, then took $200 and both walked out of the store.

Von Dongen is offering $1000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the suspects.

Mary Von Dongen was planning to relieve Smith and tend the store but had not arrrived yet when the armed robbers appeared.

Ripple Sells Mortuary

said.

Ripple joins the Zooks by the first of the year. That mortuary has been in business since January of 1953. Robert and Elsie Zook have been joined in the mortuary by their son, Gregory. Douglass has not been a part of the business since his retirement in 1961.

"I have known Sterling (Ripple) for years and I feel honored that he has confidence in our operation to let us serve Sierra Madre," Robert Zook said recently. "I want the people of this community to be assured that we will continue with the people of Sierra Madre as Sterling has done so well for 35 years. We are happy to have him associated with us at least on a part-time basis."

Ripple, a long-time member of Lions Club who is starting his second decade as treasurer of the Los Angeles County Funeral Directors Association, said the association with Sierra Madre had been a very pleasant one.

St. Rita's Students Give Food

In an effort of thanksgiving over the recent holiday, Terri Klier and her sixth grade class at St. Rita School organized a huge canned food and clothing drive accompanied by a special mass of Thanksgiving.

Two trucks were required to carry all of the collected items to the Francis Center, temporary emergency crisis center for families of all faiths located in downtown Los Angeles.

The teacher and 15 students delivered the items. Thousands of cans of food were collected from all the classes and $200 in donations were received.

At the Mass, the students acted out the part of the Bible where Jesus cured 10 lepers but only one returned to give thanks.

After visiting the center in Los Angeles, the students noted theirappreciation for all their own blessings which made their Thanksgiving even more special to them, Klier remarked.

Thanks Thanks

The Sierra Madre Rose Float Association wants to say a very big "THANK YOU" TO THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY OF Sierra Madre who have donated over $2,000 in the recent Float construction fund drive. We could not build our Float without their generous cooperation.

Men's Playoffs Set For Dec. 14 Title Games

With one week left in the regular season of the second half, the Reptiles clinched a playoff spot in the Wednesday Men's Slo-Pitch League and the Little Engine Shop wrapped up the Monday night spot.

In both leagues the home-run powers will challenge a spray hitting line-up. Steve Grijalva's Retiles return to the championship game after a year's absence with a balanced line-up.

They are matched against the Machine winners of the last three playoffs. The Machine averages over four homeruns a game and will be out to avenge an earlier humiliation at the hands of the Reptiles. Game time for this championship game is 8 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 14.

Monday night's championship features two teams who have never reached the final game. The Good Ole Boys, managed by Dennis Harfman, scored just enough runs to win while their opponents, the Little Engine Shop, have completely dominated their games in the second half hitting eight homeruns in one game. These two teams square off at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 14, at Heasley Field.

Thursday Night's League finds the Little League Managers nursing a one game lead over the ever-improving Pasadena Motor Works. The league championship will probably be decided when these two teams meet Dec. 17.

All three leagues this fall have provided a good outlet for Sierra Madre's adult population to get together once a week and work up a little sweat while practicing the good sportsmanship which is found in the adult leagues.

Gordon On the Grow

Gordon Baker Lloyd

In 1825 Joel Robert Poinsett collected 16 original plants near Taxco, Mexico. From his greenhouse in South Carolina he distributed plants to botantical gardens and friends. Nurseryman Robert Buist made the first poinsettias available to the public. Until 1923 cuttings from the original introduction were grown primarily in botanic gardens as a flowering shrub for lanscape use in the tropics. The use of poinsettias as a pot plant began with the introduction of Oak Leaf in 1623 to the mid-1960s. All of the principal varieties were mutations, sports only with minor variations from the original seedlings. It was in this period that Paul Ecke began his wonderful work . . . and many of us have seen his fields down along the highway going to San Diego.

Put your poinsettia in a position where you can get enough light to read fine print. Avoid drafts or any excess heat from furnaces, etc. Water thoroughly with luke warm water when the soil is dry to your touch. Be sure to remove excess water. Ideal temperatures not higher than 72 in the day time or higher than 60 degrees at night to keep the red bracts nice and bright.

Don Jackson and Betty J. have planted their fava beans. These are among our most ancient beans found as standard dishes in France, Spain and so on. Remember when they used to be grown as a cover crop in our orchards? They stand about 18 inches or more high and produce these big green pods in March when sown now.

Now about cut-tree care: raise the tree about 6 inches above the ground and let it drop. If needles fall forget it. Recut the tree at a long slant about 2 inches above the present cut. Put in water at once for at least 24 hours. Use a special solution if you can to absorb into the tree. Be sure tree in house has a water source. Gravel and water, sand and water, etc. Spray the tree with Wilt Pruf if you can find it, for it prevents moisture from leaving the needles . . . I use it on all indoor greens and door wreaths . . . it is also used to prevent frost damage and sunburn in summer . . . and on your tree use cool lights and turn them off when you leave the house at night.

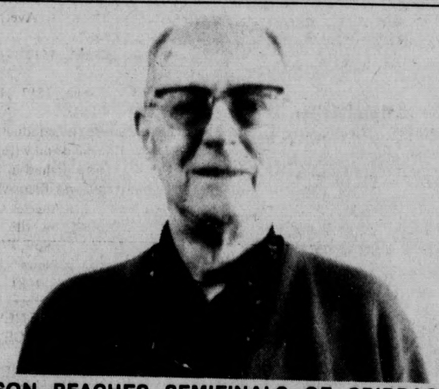

TURKEY GIVEN TO SIERRA MADREAN — Dori Osterman presents Kathleen Epperson, a 28-year resident of Sierra Madre, with a coupon for a turkey she won in a drawing at Imperial Savings and Loan Nov. 23. Winning the turkey was both a surprise and a relief for Kathleen, since 32 relatives were scheduled to drop in the next day for Thanksgiving dinner.

From Behind the Wire

"Come on cats."'

Old Dr. Narcowich called me up at 6:30 p.m. Friday night and said, "O.K. Pal, what's on for tonight?"

" Nothing, Pal, I just finished 12 hours at work and I'm ready to drop."

There was a short pause on his end then he said, "Monrovia is playing Antelope Valley in the first round of C.I.F. Playoffs."

I said, "Pick me up in 15 minutes," and off we went. The Wildcats used to be the S.G. Valley doormats for years in their division but this year they were 10 - 1 and made it to C.I.F. I am sorry they lost 17 - 15 to one of the biggest teams I've ever seen. Those guys were monsters. When you have a center that goes at 235 pounds and is over six feet tall all you have to do is follow him. The rest of the line was the same.

The Cats had players go both ways and that's rare today and they played their hearts out but the clock killed them. Old Doc said wait till next year. I crashed.

"Come and get umm."

The trees are in, I bought two so far from the lot myself. Jerry Carlton, Tony Kane, Joe Goudy and Paul Donatelli were all selling this last Sunday. So bring your check book and get one of the softest sells in town, but watch out for Joe. He may slip you a better tree than you picked out. He's funny that way.

SATURDAY'S SOCCER PLAYERS PLAY TO WIN — The Lightnings beat the Lazers 1 - 0 Saturday at soccer at the Sierra Madre School field. There was good Lazer offensive play by Jeff Sivas and Josh Parker, and good defense by Mike Andrew, John Grabowski, Markus Jeromin and Trevor King. Josh Parker and James Bridgeman were responsible for excellent goalie defense.

Super Paper Bowl Win

La Jolla held off several late scoring threats by Redlands to win its second paper football championship in three years. The final count was 29 to 27 over last year's champion.

La Jolla owner coach Dennis Welch lauded the victory as a result of "A lot of talent and a little good luck."

The three weeks of playoffs produced some bitter battles. Jinxed Sierra Madre lost another heartbreaker to Redlands, 22 to 21, to suffer elimination in the opening round. It was Sierra Madre's ninth straight loss to the Skins.

Redlands followed in round two with a win over Yucaipa, 22 to 16. Meanwhile, West Division runner up Northridge just got by arch-rival Studio City 34 to 30 only to face a second round embarrassment by La Jolla in a 57 to 10 loss.

Commissioner Rob Vines announced the paper league will expand to 10 teams next year with new franchises in Tarzana and Colton. An expansion draft is scheduled for Dec. 18, and the college draft will be held in San Diego on Jan. 23, 1982.

Robert Dickinson, Sierra Madre owner-coach, summed up the paper football year stating, "The most talented team did wind up winning it all. Our team is building on young talent. It should challenge for the top spot next year . . . that is, if we can ever figure out how to beat Redlands!"

Ah yes . . . there's always next year.
